From the front lines of the fight against white supremacy, a groundbreaking work of journalism that reveals the true extent of the threat, and offers a path forward.

The Rise of the Alt-Right

In recent years, the alt-right has emerged as a new and dangerous force in American politics. This loosely organized movement of white nationalists, neo-Nazis, and other extremists has been linked to a number of violent incidents, including the deadly Charlottesville rally in 2017. Alt-right groups are using social media and other platforms to spread their hateful ideology, and they are finding a receptive audience among young white men who are angry and alienated.

The Mainstreaming of White Supremacy

The alt-right is not the only group promoting white supremacy in America. In recent years, there has been a mainstreaming of white supremacist ideas in American society. This is due in part to the rise of Donald Trump, who has repeatedly made racist and xenophobic statements. Trump's election has emboldened white supremacists, and they are now feeling more comfortable expressing their views in public.

The Violence of White Supremacy

White supremacy is not just a matter of words. It is a violent ideology that has led to the deaths of countless people of color. In recent years, there have been a number of high-profile acts of violence by white supremacists, including the mass shootings in El Paso, Texas, and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. These attacks are a reminder that white supremacy is a real and present danger to our society.

The Path Forward

The fight against white supremacy is not easy. It will require a sustained effort from all of us. We need to educate ourselves about the dangers of white supremacy, and we need to speak out against it whenever we see it. We need to support organizations that are working to fight white supremacy, and we need to hold our elected officials accountable for their actions.

The path forward is not easy, but it is essential. We must not allow white supremacy to divide us or destroy our country. We must stand together and fight for a more just and equitable society.
