The Four Magic Moves

The four magic moves are the foundation of Pelz's golf instruction. These moves are:

1. The takeaway
2. The backswing
3. The downswing
4. The follow-through

Each of these moves is essential for a successful golf swing. If you can master these moves, you'll be well on your way to improving your game.

The Takeaway

The takeaway is the first move in the golf swing. It's responsible for getting the club moving back and away from the ball. The key to a good takeaway is to keep your head still and your arms relaxed. You should also make sure that the clubhead is moving on a straight line.

The Backswing

The backswing is the second move in the golf swing. It's responsible for generating power and creating the angle of attack for the downswing. The key to a good backswing is to keep your head still and your arms relaxed.

You should also make sure that you're rotating your hips and shoulders together.

The Downswing

The downswing is the third move in the golf swing. It's responsible for delivering the clubhead to the ball with power and accuracy. The key to a good downswing is to keep your head still and your arms relaxed. You should also make sure that you're rotating your hips and shoulders together.

The Follow-Through

The follow-through is the fourth and final move in the golf swing. It's responsible for completing the swing and sending the ball on its way. The key to a good follow-through is to keep your head still and your arms relaxed. You should also make sure that you're rotating your hips and shoulders together.

Expert Insights and Practical Drills

In addition to providing step-by-step instructions on how to execute the four magic moves, Pelz also includes a wealth of expert insights and practical drills to help you improve your swing.
