Chapter 2: Letters and Reflections: Unveiling the Inner Jefferson

Sir
Richmond March 25. 1781
43

As I am certainly informed by Com-dore Barron that the fleet arrived in British, I become anxious lest the reputed French fleet not man--ing of this incident may come into the Bay. Should the Marquis Fayette be returned to the North side of the River, I make no doubt but he will have taken what cautionary measures are in his power and necessary. Should he not be re-turned I must beg the favour of you immediately to send off a Vessel from York to the Eastern shore (which is supposed to be practicable) with the enclosed letter to Col Avery, the purport of which is to send out two good lookout Boats from the Seaside of that Shore to apprise the French Commander should he be approaching, of the situation of things here. you will of course caution the master of the Vessel to destroy the letters confided to him in case of inevitable capture. I am with much respect Sir Yr mo Obedt & mo devoted
